Course Description

The United States is at a crossroads, as democracy itself is under attack. At the K-12 level, think tanks and scholars are calling for a major investment in civics education and social studies in order to respond to the breakdown of trust in our democratic institutions. How will higher education respond? I argue that higher education needs to mainstream “social action” in order to do its part in creating the next generation of democratic citizens and residents.

Social action occurs when everyday people band together to develop their power in order to change policy, and it has been a part of the American experiment in democracy throughout our history. Sociology 164: Social Action is a course that explores our power and democracy, both of which are central to the Social Sciences in general, and Sociology in particular. More specifically, this course examines the topics of issue development, change theory, building power, group dynamics, strategy and tactics, and campaign planning and implementation.

What is unique about Soci. 164 is that students do social action rather than just learn about it. In a traditional course, students read about theories of social change, analyze social problems, read about campaigns, develop an abstract understand of concepts, all with the professor being the “sage on the stage”. In the experiential social action model, students read about theories of social change and apply it to real world campaigns, as well as define a social problem and develop concrete, quantifiable solutions (i.e., demands). In this experiential social action model, students choose and lead campaigns and are transformed through a direct experience of democracy, all with the professor being a “guide on the side” where they are de-centered and co-creators of knowledge.

A key part of the social action model is that students have the opportunity to enact a policy (i.e., a rule, regulation, norm, or practice of an institution) on campus or in the community, with the students choosing and developing the campaigns on their own rather than assigned by the instructor. Another exciting part of this course is that you will hear directly from previous Soci. 164 students about their social action campaigns.

Another key feature of the social action model is the topic and flow of the course. The motto of this model is “On Your Mark, Go, Get Set.” In order to launch the campaigns by mid-semester, students go through the issue development process (identifying demands and targets) in the opening days of the class. By choosing the campaigns by the 4th or 5th class, students have enough time to learn about all of the necessary aspects of social change, and then to launch a campaign by the ninth week, and still have almost half a semester to do several actions.

Topics

Schedule Options

One Semester: Meet 2x per week

One Semester: Lab 1x per week

A typical class looks like this:

- 5-7 min: Quiz on reading
- 7-10 min: Organization rap
- 30 min: Mini lecture on reading, alumni zoom/video on social action
- 20 min: Team work on campaign

With this model, a typical class involves the following: (a) a student doing a 1-2 minute organizational rap (i.e., who, what, why, where, and when of a campaign), (b) a mini-lecture by the professor of the reading or a Zoom call with an alumni, and (c) group work on their campaigns. These activities are designed to de-center the faculty, empower students to believe that social action is possible, and to give students the opportunity to be active participants in their education.

All students will be involved in social action. This will require a minimum of 1½ to 2 hours per week of campaign work (25 hours minimum over 15 weeks, with 13 hours or more DOING something, that is, doing campaign activities (e.g., tabling, poster, giving organization raps) or campaign actions (marches, rallies, street theater, etc.). If you do not do more than 25 hours a semester, you will not receive higher than a C on the overall portfolio grade, since it is difficult to do reflection if you are not doing social action. Of course, if you want to do more community work, that is great. In fact, you can get an extra one to three units of course credit (Soci. 181B) if you do additional community work. Please come see me if you are interested in this additional course credit.

It will be possible to do your social action on campus, so all students should be able to work it into your schedule. In addition, class time will be dedicated to your social action campaign, so you will be able to do some of your organizing in class. During the second through fourth classes, you will brainstorm various ideas for a social action campaign, and then you will choose one to work on.

The requirements for the campaign are: (i) that you have a minimum of 3 students on your team, (ii) you have passion for the issue, and (iii) your campaign tries to change some type of policy. The campaign you choose to work on may come from a liberal, conservative, social democrat, or libertarian perspective...or it may have no ideology. Whatever campaign you choose to do, I will teach you about democracy, power, and how to bring about change.

Importantly, there is no political indoctrination, as students develop and choose what campaigns to work on, and can change campaigns at any point in the semester. Furthermore, my role is to offer guidance about strategy and tactics, and to help students consider the variety of options available, with the students deciding on how to best move forward.

If for some reason a student wants to leave a group, please contact the professor. At that time, the student and professor will discuss what group you would like to join. After the student makes a choice, I will contact the other group. If the group believes there will be little disruption to the group, then the student is able to join. However, if the group feels that there would be a disruption to the group due to possible lack of trust and transparency issues, or negative behavior by the student, that group has the right to say no. If the student still wants to join the group even after the student group has said that it would cause a disruption, the professor will make the final decision, as I am ultimately in charge of the classroom environment. Personally, I am fine with any student joining another group if it would cause minimum disruption to the group. At the same time, I am not okay if by a student joining the group, it would cause disruption to the group. As professor, I am responsible for the classroom environment, and I will base my decision on the impact to the classroom environment. If the student has no group to join, then the student will be given an independent study with no negative repercussions to her/his/their grade.

Soci. 164 has fundamentally changed the campus and community. Over the past fifteen years, Social Action students have won 15 campaigns, leading successful efforts to: (1) raise the minimum wage in San José from $8 to $10 and then to $15, (2) develop a 12-emergency bed program and a centralized location to provide emergency housing and food to students, (3) modernize the city's business tax, and (4) make SJSU a sweatshop-free campus, and (5) get Santa Clara County to clear and expunge 13,000 cannabis convictions. Perhaps even more importantly, the students participating in social action have had their lives transformed as a result of a direct experience with democracy, with social action alumni taking on leadership positions in government and the non-profit sector, as well as obtaining community organizing jobs locally and pursuing advanced degrees.

One last thing: this is a Sociology course, so you should know something about one of the most famous American sociologists, C. Wright Mills. Mills once said that, "personal troubles cannot be solved merely as troubles, but must be understood in terms of public issues - and in terms of the problems of history making." For example, if in a nation, there is just a small minority of the population in poverty, then it is the individual's personal trouble, and for its relief we properly look to the character of the person and her or his skills. But if in that nation, there are 40 million people in poverty (like in the USA), then that is a social problem, and relief must come from a change in social structure (i.e., the arrangement of society). Mills called this approach to understanding reality the sociological imagination, which we will use throughout this course.¹

Course Learning Outcomes (CLO)

Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

1. conduct issue development
2. build power
3. implement various strategies and tactics
4. conduct research (historical analysis, power map, target analysis)
5. work with the media
6. perform campaign implementation and evaluation plans

Required Texts/Readings

Textbook

Scott Myers-Lipton, CHANGE! A Student Guide to Social Action, ISBN: 9781138297296, ISBN: 9781612057279. The book is available at the Spartan Bookstore or on-line.

Other Readings

The other reading for the course is a reader. The articles in the reader are available at www.bonner.org/socialaction-docs.

Course Requirements

There are four course requirements. They include quizzes, a portfolio and log, participation, and a campaign presentation and binder.

8 Very Short Quizzes, Count 5 (20% of total grade)

The purpose of these very short quizzes (i.e., less than 5 minutes) is to encourage reading. In order to encourage reading, you will be given short quizzes throughout the semester. If you do the reading for each class, these short quizzes will be very easy to answer. I will count five quizzes toward your grade, so if you are feeling at all sick, please DO NOT come to class to take the quiz.

Portfolio and Log (40% of total grade)

At the university, you generally demonstrate that you understand the ideas from the course in an exam. This class is different. In this class, portfolios take the place of exams. Importantly, the portfolio is where you demonstrate your knowledge of the text in light of your social action experiences. Therefore, you must integrate the text with your community work throughout each portfolio. With no integration of text, you cannot receive above a C on your portfolio. You can talk to your teammates but all of the portfolios will be your own work.

In addition, you cannot receive higher than a C on your overall portfolio grade if you do not complete at least 25 hours of social action work (1.5 to 2 hours a week). After the fourth class, I will email you a log to keep track of your community work, and it will be turned in with each portfolio. Your portfolio and log will be collected every three to four weeks. Late portfolios will be accepted, but 1/3 grade will be deducted for each day it is late. Also, I don't accept emailed papers, but you can send email me a late portfolio to stop the "late clock" and bring in a hard copy to the next class.

Participation (20% of total grade)

The purpose of evaluating your participation is to encourage and reward students who prepare for, and engage in, the habits of the mind. Thus, you will be evaluated on the extent and quality of your participation in the class. Your classroom participation grade will be based on the following criteria:

Excellence (A) requires that you play a leadership role in the large class discussion and your team, apply the text, discuss points articulately and respond intelligently to other's views; ask insightful questions, and take responsibility for the direction of the class discussion and your team.

Above average (B) requires that you participate regularly in the large class discussion and your team, demonstrate good knowledge of the text, discuss points articulately and respond intelligently to other's views; ask insightful questions, but you do not take a strong leadership role in the overall class discussion and the direction of your team.

Average (C) requires that you follow the discussion in the large class and your team, make occasional comments, have a basic knowledge of the text, and sometimes ask questions in the large group and team.

Below average (D) requires that you occupy a seat and occasionally show signs of life.

Failure (F) requires that you occupy a seat but show no signs of life.

At the end of the course, you will be asked to evaluate your level of participation, as well as your teammates. This evaluation will be taken seriously when participation grades are determined.

Campaign Presentation and Mural Board (20% of total grade)

For the final exam, students give a group presentation on your social action campaign. As part of this presentation, you will turn in your completed mural board that will be used by the next incoming class of Social Action students during their selection process of campaigns.

Grading Scale

Since the various parts of the course add up to 100%, each percent equals a point. For example, your participation is 20% of your grade; thus, this assignment is worth 20 points. The scale that I use to measure your work is the following:

98-100=A+	88-89=B+	78-79=C+	68-69=D+	59 & below =F
93-97=A	83-87=B	73-77=C	63-67=D
90-92=A-	80-82=B-	70-72=C-	60-62=D-

Extra Credit

There will also be other extra credit opportunities for attending campus events having to do with social action. To receive the extra credit, you need to go to the campus event, and then a 1- single spaced reflection paper (about 3-4 paragraphs): (1) describing what you saw and heard (i.e., the major points and key lessons of the event), and (2) integrating your insights with the reading from Soci. 164: Social Action. To receive full credit, the extra credit must be turned in 1 week after the event.

Classroom Protocol

1. Cell Phones and Computers: Anytime we are in the large group, please DO NOT use your cell phone. If you need to answer a text, please step outside and do so. In addition, any type of social networking on your computer is NOT allowed. If you use your computer to take notes or to do the reading, DO NOT have it open to Facebook, Gmail, etc. However, when we break into small groups, you will be able to use your cell phone and computer to look up information.
2. Office Hours: Office hours are generally used to help clarify information from lectures, discussions, group activities, readings, or social action campaign. I highly encourage you to come to my office hours!
3. Late Papers: The late policy for any work is a 1/3 drop in grade for each school day that it is late. Thus, if the portfolio is due on Tuesday, and you turn it in on Thursday, your grade will be dropped by 2/3s (i.e., a grade of B would be a C+).

University Policies

Per University Policy S16-9 (<http://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/S16-9.pdf>), relevant information to all courses, such as academic integrity, accommodations, dropping and adding, consent for recording of class, etc. is available on Office of Graduate and Undergraduate Programs' Syllabus Information web page at <http://www.sjsu.edu/gup/syllabusinfo/>

Academic Integrity Policy

According to the University's Academic Integrity Policy, cheating is "the act of obtaining credit, attempting to obtain credit, or assisting others to obtain credit for academic work through the use of any dishonest, deceptive, or fraudulent means, while plagiarism is "the act of representing the work of another as one's own without giving appropriate credit, regardless of how that work was obtained, and submitting it to fulfill academic requirements. The university's Academic Integrity Policy is available at: <https://www.sjsu.edu/studentconduct/docs/SJSU-Academic-Integrity-Policy-F15-7.pdf> . If I determine there has been a violation of this policy, students will receive an automatic F for the paper. In addition, I may file a report with the Academic Affairs Judicial Officer regarding the violation of the academic integrity policy.
